Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions.

Smart cards and mobile phones are becoming an increasingly popular way to make all sorts of payments. Even now, in Japan thousands of transactions, from paying rail tickets to picking up the groceries, take place every day with customers passing their handsets across a small flat-screen device. And predictions in the world of finance reckon that payments using mobile phones will have risen to more than $50 billion in the very near future.

What's the appeal of e-cash? Compared to cheques or credit cards, it offers the speed of cash, but more so. It takes just one tenth of a second to complete most transactions and as no change is required, errors in counting are eliminated. Fraud and theft are also reduced and for the retailer, it reduces the cost of handling money. Sony's vision of having a chip embedded in computers, TVs and games consoles means that films, music and games can be paid for easily without having to input credit card details.

And what about the future of the banks? Within their grip on the market, banks and creditcard firms want to be in a position to collect most of the fees from the users of mobile and contactless-payment systems. But the new system could prove to be a "disruptive technology" as far as the banks are concerned. If payments for a few coffees, a train ticket and a newspaper are made every day by a commuter with a mobile, this will not appear on their monthly credit card statements but on their mobile phone statements. And having spent fortunes on branding, credit-card companies and banks do not want to see other payment systems gaining popularity. It's too early to say whether banks will miss out and if so, by how much. However, quite a few American bankers are optimistic. They feel there is reason to be suspicious of those who predict that high-street banks may be a thing of the past. They point out that Internet banking did not result in the closure of their high-street branches as was predicted. On the contrary, more Americans than ever are using local branches. So, whether we'll become a totally cash-free society remains open to contention.

Câu 31: What is the main idea of the first paragraph?

- A. The increasing popularity of new payment methods.
- B. The absence of traditional payment methods.
- C. Japan's advanced forms of payment.
- D. Predictions of future payment methods.

Câu 32: Why does the author mention "a small flat-screen device" in the first paragraph?

- A. to criticize the e-cash system
- B. to inform the e-cash system
- C. to exemplify the e-cash system
- D. to praise the e-cash system

Câu 33: Which of the following is NOT true about the strong point of e-cash?

- A. faster speed
- B. reduced cost
- C. fewer mistakes
- D. no fraud

Câu 34: The word "embedded" in the second paragraph is closest in meaning to _____.

A. isolated B. generated C. manufactured D. integrated

Câu 35: The word "grip" in the third paragraph is closest in meaning to _____.

A. success B. power C. range of branches D. wealth

Câu 36: The author mentions the case of commuters in the third paragraph to illustrate _____.

- A. the transferability of the system
- B. the modern technology of the e-cash system
- C. the banks' cooperation with credit-card companies
- D. a possible drawback of the system

Câu 37: The word "their" in the third paragraph refers to _____.

A. Internet banking B. American bankers C. credit cards D. high-street banks

Câu 38: How does the writer seem to feel about the future of banks?

A. uncertain B. pessimistic C. optimistic D. neutral

The Singapore Science Centre is located on a six-hectare site in Jurong. At the centre, we can discover the wonders of science and technology in a fun way. Clap your hands and colorful bulbs will light up. Start a wheel spinning and it will set off a fan churning. It is a place to answer our curiosity and capture our imagination.

The centre features over four hundred exhibits covering topics like solar radiation, communication, electronics, mathematics, nuclear energy and evolution. It aims to arouse interest in science and technology among us and the general public. The centre is the first science one to be established in South East Asia. It was opened in 1977 and it now receives an average of one thousand, two hundred visitors a day. The exhibits can be found in four exhibition galleries. They are the Lobby, Physical Sciences, Life Sciences and Aviation. These exhibits are renewed annually so as to encourage visitors to make return visits to the centre.

Instead of the usual “Hands off” notices found in exhibition halls, visitors are invited to touch and feel the exhibits, push the buttons, turn the cranks or pedals. This is an interesting way to learn science even if you hate the subject. A Discovery Centre was built for children between the ages of three and twelve. This new exhibition gallery was completed in 1985. Lately this year a stone-age exhibit was built. It shows us about the animals and people which were extinct.
